Piatto (Flat Style)

Flat Roman Shades are perfect for large, bold or striped patterns. The flat folds have no stitching that would interfere with the patterns and the result is a tailored look that is perfect for a clean modern profile.

Classico (Classic Style)

Ribs are rigid dowels that support the sharp folds and pleats of a Roman or Hobbled shade. These ribs are placed in a pocket on the shade.

Inverso (Reverse Classic Style)

Pockets on the back of the shade hold support rods and form attractive seams on the front of the shade. Binded Pleat shades are not recommended with fabrics that have a pattern. They work best with solid or textured fabrics.

Cascata (Waterfall Style)

Soft flowing traditional folds that ripple down the face of the shade are usually called waterfall or hobbled roman shades. The flowing into the next fold creates a rich fullness to the look. They are also known as looped or teardrop shades.
